About the job

Job summary

The Government Digital Service (GDS) is the digital centre of government. We are responsible for setting, leading and delivering the vision for a modern digital government.

Our priorities are to drive a modern digital government, by:

1. Joining up public sector services
2. Harnessing the power of AI for the public good
3. Strengthening and extending our digital and data public infrastructure
4. Elevating leadership and investing in talent
5. Funding for outcomes and procuring for growth and innovation
6. Committing to transparency and driving accountability

We are home to the Incubator for Artificial Intelligence (I.AI), the world-leading GOV.UK, and at the forefront of coordinating the UK's geospatial strategy and activity. We lead the Government Digital and Data function and champion the work of digital teams across government.

We're part of the Department for Science, Innovation and Technology (DSIT) and employ more than 1,000 people all over the UK, with hubs in Manchester, London and Bristol.

The Government Digital Service is where talent translates into impact. From your first day, you'll be working with some of the world's most highly-skilled digital professionals, all contributing their knowledge to make change on a national scale.

Join us for rewarding work that makes a difference to people across the UK. You'll solve some of the nation's highest-priority digital challenges, helping millions of people access services they need.

This role is on the multidisciplinary Service Standard and Manual team. The Service Standard provides the principles for creating and running good public services. The Service Manual helps teams to create and run public services that meet the Service Standard.

Content designers on the Service Standard and Service Manual work with stakeholders and subject matter experts across GDS and wider government. They update, iterate and improve standards and guidance, ensuring they meet the needs of service teams and reflect emerging good practice, resulting in better services for users. You'll be joining a thriving community of content designers in GDS and across government, with lots of opportunities to gain new skills and get advice and support from other content and user-centred design professionals.

Job description

As a content designer you will:

- create, improve and manage user-centered content, using analytics, user feedback, user research and other sources of information
- contribute to and help develop content principles and templates
- identify the needs of users, write user stories, design content plans, create and publish content
- identify and collaborate effectively with stakeholders, working with them to understand policy changes and ensure factual accuracy
- help develop content strategies, and apply them
- contribute to the cross-government and GDS content community

Person specification

We're interested in people with skills and experience in:

- creating, improving and publishing high-quality guidance content that meets user needs
- using content management systems and content production processes to publish content
- using insights and data, including analytics, user feedback and user research, to make decisions about content and how to improve it working with stakeholders or clients to build relationships and understand their issues, while maintaining content quality and using evidence to explain decisions made working in an agile way, using agile methodology to prioritise and manage different pieces of work and adapt to changing circumstances

identifying, implementing and communicating improvements to content strategies, policies, processes and ways of working

Benefits

There are many benefits of working at GDS, including:

flexible hybrid working with flexi-time and the option to work part-time or condensed hours a Civil Service Pension with an average employer contribution of 28.97%

25 days of annual leave, increasing by a day each year up to a maximum of 30 days

an extra day off for the King's birthday

an in-year bonus scheme to recognise high performance

career progression and coaching, including a training budget for personal development

a focus on wellbeing with access to an employee assistance programme

job satisfaction from making government services easier to use and more inclusive for people across the UK

advances on pay, including for travel season tickets

death in service benefits

cycle to work scheme and facilities

access to an employee discounts scheme

10 learning days per year

volunteering opportunities (5 special leave days per year)

access to a suite of learning activities through Civil Service learning

Any move to Government Digital Service from another employer will mean you can no longer access childcare vouchers. This includes moves between government departments. You may however be eligible for other government schemes, including Tax Free Childcare. Determine your eligibility at <https://www.childcarechoices.gov.uk>

Office attendance

The Department operates a discretionary hybrid working policy, which provides for a combination of working hours from your place of work and from your home in the UK. The current expectation for staff is to attend the office or non-home based location for 40-60% of the time over the accounting period.

DSIT does not normally offer full home working (i.e. working at home); but we do offer a variety of flexible working options (including occasionally working from home).

Things you need to know

Artificial intelligence

Artificial intelligence can be a useful tool to support your application, however, all examples and statements provided must be truthful, factually accurate and taken directly from your own experience. Where plagiarism has been identified (presenting the ideas and experiences of others, or generated by artificial intelligence, as your own) applications may be withdrawn and internal candidates may be subject to disciplinary action. Please see our candidate guidance \(opens in a new window\) for more information on appropriate and inappropriate use.

Selection process details

The standard selection process for roles at GDS consists of:

- a simple application screening process - We only ask for a CV and cover letter of up to 750 words. Important tip - please ensure that your cover letter includes how you meet the skills and experience listed in the person specification section above

- a task to be completed remotely within 1 week

a 60 minute online interview

Depending on how many applications we get, there might also be an extra stage before the video interview, for example a phone interview or a technical exercise.

In the event we receive a high volume of applications, we will conduct the initial sift against the lead criteria which is:

creating, improving and publishing high-quality guidance content that meets user needs

In the Civil Service, we use Success Profiles to evaluate your skills and ability. This gives us the best possible chance of finding the right person for the job, increases performance and improves diversity and inclusivity. We ll be assessing your technical abilities, skills, experience and behaviours that are relevant to this role.

For this role we ll be assessing you against the following Civil Service Behaviours:

- changing and improving
- making effective decisions
- communicating and influencing
- delivering at pace

We ll also be assessing your experience and specialist technical skills against the following skills defined in the Government Digital and Data Capability Framework for the content designer role:

- Agile working
- content concepts and prototypes
- stakeholder and relationship management
- strategic thinking
- user focus
- user-centred design

Recruitment Timeline

Sift completion: 5th June 2026

Panel interviews: Starting from the week commencing 15th June 2026

Candidates that do not pass the interview but have demonstrated an acceptable standard may be considered for similar roles at a lower grade.

A reserve list will be held for a period of 12 months, from which further appointments can be made.

The Civil Service is committed to attract, retain and invest in talent wherever it is found. To learn more please see the Civil Service People Plan and the Civil Service D&I Strategy.

Sponsorship

DSIT cannot offer Visa sponsorship to candidates through this campaign. DSIT holds a Visa sponsorship licence but this can only be used for certain roles and this campaign does not qualify.

Feedback will only be provided if you attend an interview or assessment.
