About the job

Job summary

As a Software Developer, you'll play a key role in designing, building and improving digital services that support important public sector outcomes.

Working as part of a collaborative, multidisciplinary team, you'll develop high quality software using modern development practices, contribute to innovative solutions, and help shape services that meet user and business needs.

This is an excellent opportunity for a Software Developer looking to expand their technical skills, work with a range of technologies and frameworks, and gain experience in Agile, DevOps and continuous delivery environments. You'll be encouraged to share ideas, drive improvements, and contribute to a supportive team culture focused on learning, innovation and delivering real impact.

The Planning Inspectorate has a long and proud history in ensuring a fair planning system for England. The work we do has a significant impact on people's lives, the communities where they live and the economy.

We want our colleagues to be able to work more flexibly and more collaboratively, exploring new and innovative ways to improve the way we provide services.

Job description

As a Software Developer, you'll work as part of a multidisciplinary team to design, develop and support software products that meet user needs. You'll contribute to the delivery of high quality digital services, working collaboratively with colleagues and stakeholders to develop effective solutions, solve technical challenges and continuously improve the user experience. You'll use modern development practices and technologies, while having opportunities to learn new tools, frameworks and approaches.

You'll be responsible for developing and maintaining software that aligns with project objectives, user requirements and organisational standards. This includes applying Agile and DevOps practices throughout the software development lifecycle, providing technical input to inform decisions, and communicating technical concepts to a range of audiences. You'll build effective relationships with colleagues and stakeholders, contribute to continuous improvement, and ensure that solutions are delivered to agreed quality standards, timescales and security requirements. You'll also take ownership of your professional development, helping to foster a collaborative, inclusive and high-performing team culture.

Salary

New entrants to the Civil Service are expected to start on the minimum of the pay band. Internal rules apply to existing Civil Servants, i.e. level transfers move on current salary or the pay range minimum, transfers on promotion move to new pay range minimum or receive 10% increase. Either case is determined by whichever is the highest.

This role is being advertised at HEO Grade which has a salary of £37,579.

Working hours:

Standard working week is 37 hours, part time at 30 hours or above, flexible working hours. policy available.

Office Attendance

This role is contractually based at our office in Bristol, 10-minute walk from Temple Meads train station. We recognise and value the mutual benefits of hybrid working and have a flexible approach to in person attendance, which can vary dependent on the requirements of individual business units - the details of which can be discussed with candidates if invited to attend an interview. Excitingly, we're relocating to a brand new office in December, while maintaining excellent transport links with Bristol Temple Meads station still just a 10 minute walk away.
