Job summary

The Government Digital Service (GDS) is the digital centre of government. We are responsible for setting, leading and delivering the vision for a modern digital government.

Our priorities are to drive a modern digital government, by:

1. joining up public sector services
2. harnessing the power of AI for the public good
3. strengthening and extending our digital and data public infrastructure
4. elevating leadership and investing in talent
5. funding for outcomes and procuring for growth and innovation
6. committing to transparency and driving accountability

We re part of the Department for Science, Innovation and Technology (DSIT) and employ more than 1,000 people all over the UK, with hubs in Manchester, London and Bristol.

The Government Digital Service is where talent translates into impact. From your first day, you ll be working with some of the world s most highly-skilled digital professionals, all contributing their knowledge to make change on a national scale.

Join us for rewarding work that makes a difference across the UK. You'll solve some of the nation s highest-priority digital challenges, helping millions of people access services they need.

Former DSIT recruitment campaigns are continuing as usual, but candidates should be aware that following the Government s announcement on the changes to some civil service departments, roles will be subject to the machinery of government moves and will ultimately be in one of the new departments. We will provide more information if you are selected for a role. This work remains of high importance to the civil service, and we thank you for your continued interest.

Job description

As a Digital Portfolio Analyst, you ll support the effective oversight of a diverse portfolio of digital programs and projects, helping teams and leaders understand progress, risks and priorities. You ll collect, analyse and report on delivery information, producing clear and accurate documentation such as performance reports, briefing papers and governance materials that support informed decision-making and accountability.

This role is well suited to someone who enjoys working across teams in a fast-moving and sometimes ambiguous environment. You ll support portfolio governance and assurance processes, help identify and manage risks and issues, and contribute to improving portfolio tools, standards and ways of working. Working closely with delivery teams, senior portfolio colleagues and stakeholders across GDS and DSIT, you ll play an active role in promoting good practice and supporting the portfolio team to ensure we deliver a high-quality service that meets GDS strategic outcomes.

As a Digital Portfolio Analyst you ll:

- help to co-ordinate and manage a digital portfolio by supporting planning, tracking delivery and reporting progress on all portfolio items
- manage delivery risks and issues across the portfolio, identifying, mitigating, and escalating as appropriate to safeguard delivery outcomes
- help leadership understand performance and related risks by producing key documentation and reports, including briefing papers, planning data, and governance materials
- help teams to follow governance and delivery processes
- support the prioritisation of all activities in the portfolio
- support teams and leadership in driving continuous improvements by identifying, developing and sharing best practices on processes, tools and templates and its implementation
- act as advocate for PMO functions across the business, promoting best practice internally and the wider DSIT

Person specification

We re interested in people who:

- can support planning activity across teams which would align with the organisational strategic objectives
- has experience with tracking delivery and reporting progress across portfolio
- has experience of analysing data and presenting insights and evidence in clear way, using the most appropriate medium for the targeted audience
- can develop and build effective stakeholder relationships
- understands, follows and can guide teams through an appropriate governance and assurance processes
- are able to apply in practice Agile methodology principles such as incremental and iterative ways of working, especially when implementing new processes, tools or frameworks across teams

Benefits

Alongside your salary of £45,740, Government Digital Service contributes £13,250 towards you being a member of the Civil Service Defined Benefit Pension scheme. Find out what benefits a Civil Service Pension provides (opens in a new window).

There are many benefits of working at GDS, including:

- flexible hybrid working with flexi-time and the option to work part-time or condensed hours
- a Civil Service Pension with an average employer contribution of 28.97%
- 25 days of annual leave, increasing by a day each year up to a maximum of 30 days
- an extra day off for the King s birthday
- an in-year bonus scheme to recognise high performance
- career progression and coaching, including a training budget for personal development

- a focus on wellbeing with access to an employee assistance programme
- job satisfaction from making government services easier to use and more inclusive for people across the UK
- advances on pay, including for travel season tickets
- death in service benefits
- cycle to work scheme and facilities
- access to an employee discounts scheme
- 10 learning days per year
- volunteering opportunities (5 special leave days per year)
- access to a suite of learning activities through Civil Service learning

Any move to Government Digital Service from another employer will mean you can no longer access childcare vouchers. This includes moves between government departments. You may however be eligible for other government schemes, including Tax Free Childcare. Determine your eligibility at https://www.childcarechoices.gov.uk

Office attendance
The Department operates a discretionary hybrid working policy, which provides for a combination of working hours from your place of work and from your home in the UK. The current expectation for staff is to attend the office or non-home based location for 40-60% of the time over the accounting period.
DSIT does not normally offer full home working (i.e. working at home); but we do offer a variety of flexible working options (including occasionally working from home).

Things you need to know

Artificial intelligence

Artificial intelligence can be a useful tool to support your application, however, all examples and statements provided must be truthful, factually accurate and taken directly from your own experience. Where plagiarism has been identified (presenting the ideas and experiences of others, or generated by artificial intelligence, as your own) applications may be withdrawn and internal candidates may be subject to disciplinary action. Please see our candidate guidance (opens in a new window) for more information on appropriate and inappropriate use.

Selection process details

The standard selection process for roles at GDS consists of:

- a simple application screening process - we only ask for a CV and response to 1 knockout question. Important tip - please ensure that your responses include how you meet the skills and experience listed in the person specification section above
- a 50 minute video interview

Depending on how many applications we get, there might also be an extra stage before the video interview, for example a phone interview or a technical exercise.

In the event we receive a high volume of applications, we will conduct the initial sift against the lead criteria which is: has experience of analysing data and presenting insights and evidence in clear way, using the most appropriate medium for the targeted audience

In the Civil Service, we use Success Profiles to evaluate your skills and ability. This gives us the best possible chance of finding the right person for the job, increases performance and improves diversity and inclusivity. We ll be assessing your technical abilities, skills, experience and behaviours that are relevant to this role.

For this role we ll be assessing you against the following Civil Service Behaviours:

- working together
- changing and improving
- communicating and influencing
- delivering at pace

We ll also be assessing your experience and specialist technical skills against the following skills defined in the Government Digital and Data Capability Framework for the Digital Portfolio Analyst role

- agile working
- communicating analysis and insight
- governance and assurance
- planning
- stakeholder relationship management
- strategic thinking
