The Role

We're recruiting for Junior Business Analysts here at Justice Digital, Data and Science (JDDS) to be part of our warm and collaborative Technology Services team.

This role aligns against Junior Business Analyst from the Government Digital and Data Framework.

This is a great opportunity to join our warm and collaborative multidisciplinary teams and become part of our established business analyst community, with over 140 members across JDDS. You will play an integral role in delivering high quality, user focused solutions, working in a dynamic organisation that is exciting and innovative. At JDDS, you will have the opportunity to work across a range of different services, progress your career and make a difference.

A business analyst works within a multi-disciplinary product or service team, either independently or contributing to large scale transformations. At this level, you will:

Work towards building a good understanding of the Business Analyst role including the tools and techniques used and core services offered.

Develop a good understanding of your business area.

Have good interpersonal skills and work with a diverse stakeholder group.

You can find more details of the Benefits we offer here. To help picture your life at MoJ Justice Digital, Data and Science please take a look at our blog. Key Responsibilities:

Key Responsibilities

Work collaboratively with colleagues and stakeholders, contributing as part of a team and, where required, working independently on defined pieces of work.

Support delivery teams working in different ways, including Agile, waterfall or hybrid approaches, and develop an understanding of how different roles work together to deliver outcomes.

Carry out analysis activities under guidance to help understand how a business area works, including its people, processes, information, data and technology.

Support senior colleagues to engage with stakeholders to help understand business problems and user needs, building confidence in professional relationships over time.

Create models and diagrams, such as process maps, to help visualise current ways of working.

With support, help identify opportunities for improvement, explore possible options and contribute to recommendations that meet business and user needs.

Assist with defining and documenting requirements, such as user stories, acceptance criteria or other agreed formats, under the guidance of more experienced Business Analysts.

Take responsibility for developing your business analysis knowledge and skills, learning from practical experience, feedback and formal development opportunities.

Contribute to the wider Business Analyst community by sharing learning, participating in knowledge-sharing activities and supporting a collaborative and inclusive culture.

If this feels like an exciting challenge, something you are enthusiastic about, and want to join our team please read on and apply!
